

南京大学软件学院
NANJING UNIVERSITY · SOFTWARE INSTITUTE

Software Institute,
Nanjing University
Tel: +86-25 83621360-923
E-mail: zychen@software.nju.edu.cn

Dear Committee:

I deem it a great pleasure to recommend Mr. Yang Feng as a student volunteer for the ICSE 2012.

I have known Mr. Yang Feng since his enrollment in Nanjing University in 2007. To my knowledge, he studied diligently and got excellent records in most courses he took, especially those of mathematics and computer theories. He was also enrolled in my graduate lab when he was an undergraduate student, in which he showed a clear and quick grasp of the concepts involved a strong capacity of analytical thinking. The research results in his undergraduate period have been published in International Conference on Software Testing (ICST) 2011 and Chinese Journal of Computer Science 2011. Now his paper Multi-label Software Behavior Learning has been accepted by the ICSE 2012 NIER track.

Since the third year of his undergraduate study, Mr. Yang Feng has taken part in a lot of research work on software testing and software behavior analysis along with other faculty. His good work has fully manifested his ability to analyze and solve problems, his incorporation of fundamental knowledge with good skills, and his cooperative manner with others.

In addition, his proficiency in English language in listening, speaking as well as reading and writing will certainly enable him to be competent at the task as teaching and researching assistant.

Therefore, I recommend Mr. Yang Feng most enthusiastically. Any assistance you could render to his application for admission and assistantship would be highly appreciated.

Sincerely yours

Zhenyu Chen

2012-Feb.-22